

1.4. Characterizing arteriosclerosis by texture analysis.

The Wallenberg Laboratory for Cardiovascular Research is interested in the characterization of arteriosclerotic plaque in the human carotid arteries. Several files containing ultrasonic images presenting arteries with plaque will be available. Your task is to develop a texture analysis algorithm capable of discriminating between different types of plaque.

Contact: Artur Chodorowski

E-mail: artur.chodorowski@chalmers.se